Oasis arrives in USA - the world's largest cruise ship!

The world's largest cruise ship has completed a 14-day transatlantic crossing from Finland to arrive at its home port in Fort Lauderdale. The 5,400-passenger Oasis of the Seas ship will undergo the final touches in preparation for pre-inaugural events. The official naming ceremony will take place on November 30 during a one night inaugural celebration fundraiser for the non-profit

Make-A-Wish Foundation in aid of children with life-threatening medical conditions. The first cruise by Oasis of the Seas is on December 1 for four nights to ship owner Royal Caribbean International's private island of Labadee in Haiti.

The Royal Caribbean Oasis of the Seas is scheduled for her maiden voyage on December 12, 2009. The ship will sail from her home port of Fort Lauderdale, Florida embarking on 7-Night Caribbean cruises.

From December 2009 through April 2010, the Oasis will sail to the Eastern Caribbean visiting the ports St. Thomas, St. Maarten & Nassau, Bahamas.

Beginning in May 2010, the Oasis of the Seas will alternate between Eastern and Western Caribbean cruises. The Western Caribbean cruise itinerary will include the ports of Labadee (Royal Caribbean's Private Island); Falmouth, Jamaica (new port); and Cozumel, Mexico
